THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

☞ No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered. ☜

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s. —a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of LONDON, and over Two hundred and twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

Birmingham	Cardiff	Leeds	Newcastle-on-Tyne	Portsmouth	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	Leicester	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	Liverpool and	Norwich	Reading	Sunderland
Bradford	Gateshead	Birkenhead	Nottingham	Rochdale	Swansea
Brighton	Halifax	Manchester and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
Bristol	Huddersfield	Salford	Plymouth and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	Hull	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	Sheffield	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

MACDONALD'S
English Directory and Gazetteer.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY.—The steady expansion of "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has rendered it necessary to divide the new and revised edition just published into two portly volumes, each of which comprises considerably more than three thousand pages. This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

Daily Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guide to the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought out and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convenient.

Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is to give authentic lists of persons in professions, trades, and businesses in upwards of four thousand towns and cities of England, Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Licensed Victuallers' Gazette (London)

In two large volumes, of something over 6000 pages in all, and each of the familiar size of the London Directory, here is a complete trade directory of England and Wales. The reviewer, at present staying in a small seaside place on the south coast, has personally verified its local exactness, and has not a fault to find. The work is a model of painstaking, and gives the trader the gist, in commercial matters, of all the town and county directories

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. It is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price to non-subscribers is £4, and even at such a price must be considered very cheap.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The publishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of business, their "Irish" Directory being in its twelfth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in its seventeenth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of capital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. A section for banks and a capital gazetteer are appended. There are various maps, and no pains seem to have been spared in making the Directory complete, comprehensive, and trustworthy. In brief, it presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherto only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

Weekly Dispatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and recognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referee (London)

Manufacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Wales. As a commercial guide "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" must be invaluable to all traders.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A COLOSSAL DIRECTORY.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be prodigious. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory. The work is revised annually, and every effort is made by the publishers to ensure its accuracy.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years, and that the large additions to the issue of 1899 (about 800 pages) necessitated the division of the book into two volumes. The area covered is so wide and the changes and additions so constant that, to our mind, it is only a question of time to see another division and a third volume. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, and Manchester.

The Law Journal (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" contains a remarkable amount of information of interest to the commercial classes.

The Anglo-American (London)

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—This work will be of great service to merchants and manufacturers. It is evident that Messrs Macdonald & Co. have put forth every possible effort, regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work. The result is that they have produced what they justly claim to be the largest directory in the English language.

The Ironmonger (London)

The attempt to include within two volumes (portly though they undoubtedly are), the data relating to the general trades of the whole of England is a bold one, but on the whole the experiment may be considered fairly successful. Naturally the publishers do not pretend to give every village or small township in the land, but all places of a few thousand inhabitants seem to have been noticed, and for busy people with limited library accommodation it is a distinct advantage to have information of this kind in two instead of, say, twenty volumes. The type is bold and clear, and the general arrangement convenient for rapid reference.

The Meat Trades Journal (London)

A WONDERFUL BOOK.—These two massive volumes represent the best attempt yet made to give in directory form a comprehensive work embracing England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.

BRITISH, COLONIAL, AND FOREIGN MERCANTILE GUIDE.

This Section, added at the solicitation of many of our Subscribers, has been much appreciated, as it forms a most useful GUIDE to BUYERS, and more so in consequence of many leading and influential firms having inserted particulars of their various specialities, under the several classifications or trade headings, rendering it more serviceable than a mere list of names.

This Section is compiled without any pretentions to completeness, it being necessary to make a nominal (but necessary) charge for inserting names, to enable us to continue to issue the work at a popular price, so that its extensive circulation should not be impaired.

Have each and all been cured by them 'tis true.
If Indigestion be your daily curse,
Just take a Liver Pill, you might do worse;
Known everywhere are Whitefoord's Liver Pills,
Life-saving, cure life's thousand varied ills.

Now and again throughout all future days.
Of none-metallic pills of such renown,
Perhaps none at all exist in any town;
"Queen of the May" if blessings you'd bestow
Right royally where'er you please to go,
Strive to make known the Whitefoord Liver Pill,
To cure your bilious subjects when they're ill;
Unique, possessing special virtues too,
Verily, "May Queen," they are made of you.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and these give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

CLYDE, one of the largest rivers of Scotland, rising in the south part of Lanarkshire, and forming an arm of the sea, called the Firth of Clyde, near the castle of Dumbarton. It becomes navigable at the city of Glasgow. The first boat in Europe successfully propelled by steam was launched on this river in 1812; and since then the river's shipping and shipbuilding have both grown enormously. Near Lanark the river descends from 560 to 200 feet, forming the celebrated Falls of Clyde, above which flows a beautiful trout stream, passing through a fertile valley amid lovely scenery. The waters become more sluggish and polluted as it nears Glasgow, and large sums of money have been spent in improving and deepening the channel from Glasgow to Dumbarton, with great success. Along the ancient sea-margin of the river is an almost continuous line of watering-places, much frequented during the summer months

EDINBURGH, metropolis of Scotland, seat of the college of justice, or court of session, which is the supreme court of Scotland; of the justiciary exchequer, and other courts; a university city, royal and parliamentary burgh, the county town of Edinburghshire, and the place of the annual meeting of general assemblies of both the Church of Scotland and the recently united Free Churches; a city of great antiquity, was for many centuries seat of royal adminstration and the meeting place of parliament. It figured so long and prominent in national events that its history is much connected with the general history of Scotland. Of late years it has undergone costly improvements and progressive extensions, so vast that it would be out of place in these limits to enter into detail. It measures—exclusive of important suburbs—about two miles from east to west, and about 2¼ miles from north to south. The public buildings are numerous and attractive, many of them magnificent edifices. Among those of most interest are:—Holyrood Palace; the Castle; Parliament House; the University; the New University Buildings, including the M'Ewan Hall (1897), gifted by Wm. M'Ewan, M.P. (citizen); New Nortb Bridge (1897); the Museum of Science and Art; Antiquarian Museum; Phrenological Museum; Heriot's Hospital, completed 1650 at a cost of £30,000; Royal Exchange (1761) £31,000; Bank of Scotland (1806) £75,000; County Buildings (1817) £15,000; Register House (1820) £80,000, since added to; High School (1827) £30,000; Edinburgh Academy (1824) £20,000; Royal College of Surgeons (1833) £20,000; the Orphan Hospital (1833) £16,000; Royal Institution (1836) £40,000; Corn Exchange (1849) £20,000; Donaldson's Hospital (1851) £100,000; British Linen Co.'s Bank (1852) £30,000; Stewart's Hospital (1853) £30,000; Art Galleries (1858) £40,000; General Post Office (1866) £120,000; Sheriff Court Buildings (1868) £44,000; Fettes' College (1870) £150,000; Maternity Hospital (1878) £10,000; the New Royal Infirmary (1879) £380,000; National Portrait Gallery (1889) gifted to the city by John Ritchie Findlay, proprietor of the "Scotsman." Free Library (1890) £50,860 (the gift of Mr A. Carnegie), contains 70,000 vols.; has 45,000 readers in lending department. The chief industries are printing, publishing, and brewing. It has a Royal Lunatic Asylum, Blind Asylum, Deaf and Dumb Institution, &c., Botanic Gardens and Arboretum, several public parks and squares adorned by many monuments, of which the most conspicuous is Sir Walter Scott's, completed in 1844 at a cost of £15,650. The university has obtained at least as high a medical reputation as any in Europe, while the other educational establishments are justly celebrated. It will compare favourably with any city in Great Britain for the number and importance of its benevolent and charitable establishments, and valuable endowments for the maintenance and instruction of the young. It has a variety of scientific and literary institutions. The religious and missionary societies are most prominent. The ecclesiastical buildings are both numerous and handsome, several of which are highly interesting. The Churches are—Established, United Free, Episcopal, Baptist, Congregational, Evangelical Union, Wesleyan, Roman Catholic, Original Secession, Primitive Methodist, Catholic Apostolic, Society of Friends, Unitarian, and a Jewish Synagogue. It has railway communication to all parts, and two handsome stations. Its seaports are Leith and Granton. Pop., including Portobello (recently annexed) and Leith (1901) 382,488

EDINBURGHSHIRE, OR MIDLOTHIAN, a county, extending about 12 miles along the southern shore of the Firth of Forth, by which it is bounded on the north, on the east by the county of Haddington, south by the counties of Lanark, Peebles, and Berwick, and on the west corner by part of the county of Linlithgow. The general aspect of the county is pleasant, being fertile, highly cultivated, and yielding excellent crops. The Moorfoot and Pentland Hills run through the county, in some places rising to a considerable height. It has several small rivers, such as the Esk, the Almond, and the Water of Leith. The farms of Midlothian rank among the best in the world, and pasture-land is good, especially in the hilly parts. Among the minerals found are coal, iron, sandstone, and limestone. By the Union Canal it has navigable communication with the Forth and Clyde Canals, and thence to Glasgow. Edinburghshire returns one member to Parliament. Area, 234,935 acres. Pop. (1901) 488,647

GLASGOW, the commercial and manufacturing capital of Scotland, and, in aggregate importance, the second city in the empire. Situate on the Clyde, and 47½ miles by rail from Edinburgh. Is the political capital of Lanarkshire, a royal and parliamentary burgh, a university city, seat of justiciary and sheriff courts, and a head port. Originated from the cathedral founded about A.D. 560; was made a royal burgh in 1180; and was but a small burgh of limited extent in 1550. Its great and continued prosperity—entirely the result of enterprise and skill in manufacturers and commerce—only dates from last century. Its present vast predominance testifies to the vitality and energy of its citizens. In the fifty years between 1831 and 1881 it considerably more than trebled its population, and now, including suburbs, measures 6 miles by 4½, and is of such magnitude that space will not admit here of even a meagre description. The public buildings are both numerous and handsome, and include many very interesting and noble structures. The Cathedral, the University, the Merchants' House, the General Post Office, and the Royal Exchange, may be mentioned. The Municipal buildings recently erected cost about £500,000, including £165,000 paid for the site. The charitable institutions are many, the most important being the Royal Infirmary, Western Infirmary, Fever Hospitals, Small-pox Hospital, Maternity Hospital, Asylum for the Blind, Deaf and Dumb Institute, Lunatic Asylum, &c. It has various scientific and literary institutions, including a museum and two public libraries, also a Royal Botanic Garden, several public parks and many monuments—no fewer than 11 standing in George Square. The Churches are Established, United Free, Episcopal, Baptist, Evangelical Union, Congregational, Wesleyan, Roman Catholic, Catholic Apostolic, Methodist, Christadelphian, Original Secession, Unitarian, Plymouth Brethren, Society of Friends, Christian Brethren, and a Jewish Synagogue.—The harbour shared in the prosperity of the city, and by extensions from time to time, necessitated by increasing trade, acquired its present greatness at a cost of over £11,000,000. In 1801 the quayage of the harbour was only 382 yards in length, the water area 4 acres; the revenue from the harbour and river £3400. In 1898 the length of the quayage was eight miles, the water area 205½ acres, and the revenue £410,034. For about 2¼ miles from Glasgow Bridge the river presents the appearance of an immense dock, and is deep enough for the largest sea-going ships. The harbour possesses all the appliances of a first-class port, and is connected with the whole railway system of the kingdom. The export, import, and coasting trades are enormous. For sailings of steamers see list of Shipping Offices. Pop. (1901) 571,569

HEBRIDES, THE, as now understood, includes all the Western Islands from the Mull of Kintyre to Cape Wrath, consisting of a series of groups of islands and rocky islets extending 205 miles—from the Butt of Lewis to the Mull of Oa, in Islay—along the weird, wild, and romantic coast of the West Highlands The distance of the various islands from the mainland varies from less than ½ a mile at Kyle Rhea, south-east of Skye, to over 100 miles to lone St Kilda, and from 1½ miles at Gigha to 21 at the south of Islay. The entire number of these islands and islets exceeds 500, but only about 180 are of any value. Of these, 101 were inhabited in 1891, and had a population of 81,591. Lewis and Harris, Skye, Mull, Islay, Jura, and North and South Uists are the principal islands. These are very much diversified as regards scenery—that of Skye and other islands of the Inner Hebrides being the grandest scenery perhaps in Scotland; the scenery of Lewis and other islands of the Outer Hebrides is less picturesque, but a peculiar feature of these is the immense number of fresh water lochs scattered everywhere, and yielding some of the best salmon and trout fishing in Scotland. Most of the islands are extensively intersected by inlets and arms of the sea, affording safe and sheltered anchorage. The Lords of the Isles and the Insular Chiefs of the various turbulent clans have left numerous monuments of their ambition and their rule, in the form of towers and castles; and the remains of the religious establishments testify to the Christian zeal and piety of former generations.

INVERNESS-SHIRE is the largest county in Scotland, stretching from sea to sea; it is bounded on the north by Ross-shire and part of the Moray Firth, east by the counties of Nairn, Moray, and Aberdeen, and south by those of Perth and Argyle, and west by the Atlantic Ocean. A small district between the counties of Banff and Moray, is annexed, and several of the Hebrides—Skye, Harris, North and South Uist, Benbecula, Barra, Ruasay, Eigg, St Kilda, and others. The mainland portion is divided into two almost equal parts by the Great Glen and the Caledonian Canal, the northern extremity of this glen opens by the river Ness into the Moray Firth, and flowing in a south-westerly direction encloses Lochs Ness, Oich, Lochy, and Eil, whence it extends into the Atlantic Ocean by Loch Linnhe In the northern part is Strath Glass, with its tributaries running into the Firth of Beauly. The county is noted for its unsurpassed romantic scenery; its glens and mountains. It contains Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in Britain, which attains a height of 4406 feet, and several other ranges which present some of the finest mountain scenery in the world. It is well watered, the principal rivers being the Ness, the Lochy, the Beauly, and the Spey The Caledonian Canal connects the east and west seas from Loch Eil on the west to the Moray Firth on the east coast. The west coast is indented by numerous salt-water lochs There are extensive grouse moors and deer forests, game being very plentiful; the rivers abound with salmon, and in the lochs the char is found in great perfection. Only a small portion of the land is cultivated, the greater part being moor and heathy ground; black sheep are reared in large numbers, also cattle. Oats are the principal crop; and wheat is also grown in the neighbourhood of the Moray Firth. Limestone is found in large quantities. Inverness-shire returns one member to Parliament. SUTHERLANDSHIRE, a county, extending across the whole breadth of Scotland, from the North Sea to the Atlantic Ocean. It is bounded on the west by the Minch, north by the Northern Ocean, east by the county of Caithness, south-east by the Dornoch Firth, and south by the Oickel and several smaller streams, which separates it from the county of Ross and Cromarty. The surface of the county is rugged and mountainous, except on the south-east shore. The eastern district, near the German Ocean, consists of a strip of level land which runs along the coast side; the middle or central district, resembles the other parts of the Highlands of Scotland, it contains the valleys of the rivers of Helmsdale, Brora, Fleet, and Oickel, with their tributary streams issuing from the neighbouring mountains. The shores bordering the Atlantic are wild, rocky, and mountainous. The Assynt Mountains are huge and barren, but the glens between afford excellent pasture for sheep. On the coasts of the numerous bays many tracts of land have been brought under cultivation, but the climate, from the constant rain and mists, is unfavourable to the growth of crops. The principal rivers are the Oickel, which enters the Firth of Dornoch, and is navigable for about 12 miles from its mouth, the Water of Fleet, the Water of Brora, the Water of Helmsdale, the Water of Halladale, the Water of Strathy, the Naver, the Waters of Kenloch, Hope, Dionard, and Eribol. There are also lakes, the chief being Loch Assynt, Loch Elphin, Loch Leighal, Loch More, and Loch Shin, the last of which stretches 20 miles north-west to south-east, is about one mile broad and abounds with salmon and trout. There are extensive deer forests, and abundance of all kinds of game. The Duke of Sutherland is the largest landowner. The minerals include rock crystals, pebbles, and garnets. WIGTOWNSHIRE, a county, bounded on the east by Kirkcudbrightshire, south and west by the Irish Sea, and north by Ayrshire. The county is irregular and deeply indented by Loch Ryan and Luce Bay, which forms the Rhinns of Galloway (q.v.) The richest lands lie near the coast and on the banks of the rivers. The rising grounds in the east through the parish of Wigtown and the lower parts of Penningham are for the most part fit for tillage The peninsula, called the Rhinns, is also good arable land. The hills in this part of the county rise to a considerable height, and act as a barrier against the westerly winds. The north districts called the Moors are bleak and hilly; they occupy nearly one-half of the county, and contain only a few patches of arable land. The principal rivers are the Cree, the Bladenock, the Tarff, the Luce, and others. The climate is mild and humid. The chief crops are oats and barley, also wheat, potatoes, and turnips. Slate and marble are found. Wigtownshire returns one member to Parliament. Area, 327,906 acres. Pop. (1901) 32,683

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s. —a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its porportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 3000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

MACDONALD'S
ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its porportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of nowards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co, Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only tradee' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

THE COMMITTEE APPEAL for FUNDS for the Relief of Ladies who depend for their support on the proceeds of Irish property, but who, owing to the non-receipt of their incomes from causes beyond their control, have been reduced to absolute poverty.

Office and Work Depot—17 NORTH AUDLEY STREET, W.

Royal Society FOR THE Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,

Patrons—

HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY THE QUEEN.
THEIR R.H. THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

President—

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF YORK.

THE Education Committee of the Society earnestly appeal to clergymen and ministers of every religious denomination to bring before their schools and congregations the claims of animals. To cultivate kindness of heart towards inferior creatures is to prepare for the more easy introduction of Christianity.

The Committee are advised that the Fourth Sunday after Trinity is a suitable day for pleading the cause of the lower animal creation in the Church of England; because, (1) of the appropriateness of the Collect on that day; (2) in the Epistle to the Romans viii. 18, we shall read that "the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now"; and (3) in the Gospel of Luke vi. 36, we shall read that we are commanded to be "merciful, as our Father also is merciful." Any time is suitable, however, and this remark applies particularly to Nonconformist Churches of all denominations, where it is desirable to plead the cause of the Society, which is neither sectarian nor political.

Upon this Institution, founded in 1824 (the only one having for its object the protection of dumb and defenceless animals), rests a heavy responsibility. It is earnestly and respectfully submitted, that it has in consequence a strong claim upon the benevolence of the humane and charitable.

The Committee respectfully appeal to the Public to extend a hearty assistance,—

I. By supplying early information to the Secretary of all acts of cruelty that have been witnessed.

II. By increasing the revenue of the Society by annual subscriptions, by donations, by testamentary gifts, and particularly by inducing their friends to become members.

Trained officers are despatched to all parts of the Kingdom. Upwards of 7,500 convictions obtained annually.

The increased operations of the Society have drawn from the funds an amount vastly exceeding the yearly subscriptions. The Committee need much greater assistance, and unless such additional support be extended to them, this most righteous cause of humanity must suffer from insufficiency of means to carry out those many urgent measures which every well-wisher of this Society has so deeply at heart. Remittances may be forwarded to JOHN COLAM, Secretary.

SUPPORTED ONLY BY VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS.

INDIGESTION CURABLE!!

QUESTION—"Is Life worth Living?" ANSWER—"That depends on the Liver."

A B C Pills of Whitefoord—once again—
By Hydropathic aids all pains restrain;
Colic and Coli-wobbles drive afar,
Dyspepsia too, they either cure or bar;
Eczema yields as well as Nettle-rash,
For certain cure, either but needs your cash.
Gout, Rheumatism, Jaundice, Tic-Douloureux,
Have each and all been cured by them 'tis true.
If Indigestion be your daily curse,
Just take a Liver Pill, you might do worse;
Known everywhere are Whitefoord's Liver Pills,
Life-saving, cure life's thousand varied ills.
Mankind, "The Combination Pills" will praise
Now and again throughout all future days.
Of none-metallic pills of such renown,
Perhaps none at all exist in any town;
*"Queen of the May" if blessings you'd bestow
Right royally where'er you please to go,
Strive to make known the Whitefoord Liver Pill,
To cure your bilious subjects when they're ill;
Unique, possessing special virtues too,
Verily, "May Queen," they are made of you.
Wondrous Medicine, Whitefoord's Liver Pills,
Xorcising life's thousand tangled ills.
You try the Whitefoord Hydropathy too,
Zealously, and your Bath you'll never rue.

A New Enterprise.

Nottingham was sadly in want of such undertakings of a sound nature as Mr. Cox has carried out on the premises of the old Rink in Talbot Street. The adjoining Ball Room with its last season's alterations and addition of Supper Room is familiar to all, but the changes effected in the Large Hall must be seen to be believed. From the bare Rink to one of Imre Kilralfe's creations inadequately expresses what has been done.

The Entrance through the Vestibule in Talbot Street, Mosaic Paved and Minton Tiled, replete with every modern convenience, leads to a quadrangle magnificent in proportions, as bizarre in design and colouring as a dream from the "Arabian Nights."

The old columns of the balcony have disappeared into Alhambra Arches leading up to a ceiling of gauzy mist and cloud, peopled with allegorical figures, scroll of floral designs, unique in style and treatment. From the floor of the great quadrangle, through the arches are seen glimpses of our Eastern Empire, for the entire walls have been covered with continuous mural paintings, giving views from Malta to the far interior of India. On the balcony itself the illusion is carried further by a skilfully painted Balustrade, broken here and there by short flights of steps leading to the waters' edge, and sleepily alive with slow sailing boats.

The Refreshment Arrangements are exceptionally good, overcrowding is impossible, and quick service unavoidable. The architects deserve special acknowledgment for the attention paid to the personal conveniences of both ladies and gentlemen in the arrangements of entrances, lavatories, &c. They are real models of sanitary engineering.

Nottingham must be congratulated on possessing such Halls as these at its command for Balls, Receptions, Bazaars, Promenade Concerts, and Private Theatricals, for a Stage Proscenium and all are there in the Large Hall. But above all, to such a music-loving City as Nottingham, Promenade Concerts can be given in a style that only Covent Garden can rival by reason of its greater area

The Large Hall, with its special Maple Flooring, presents an absolute ideal Dancing Surface. Supposing a great occasion, what a lounge the smaller Ball Room will make, with its beautiful Supper Room attached, and all on one floor: the Balcony of the Great Hall, a lounge by the pictured waters leading on to the Balcony of the Ball Room—a regular snuggery. Can better accommodation be wished for where many gather together?

Politics, Charity, and Amusements here find for their gatherings one great Eastern Palace, replete with every comfort and luxury that knowledge and art can supply.

The £5000 spent in these Alterations, Improvements, and Decorations though a large sum, seems small compared with the results.

The Electric Installation is so arranged that Table Lamps may be used at Banquets, &c., and by means of the Beaton Radiators the Halls are warm at a few hours' notice

A marked Feature is the Central Fountain, played on by search and coloured lights, removable (the Fountain) at pleasure.

The Great Hall is surrounded by what may be called a Cloister, which can be curtained off into a series of Alcoves, or Drawing Rooms, 16ft. by 14ft. each. For such purposes the luxurious furniture, well remembered in the Ball Room, has been added to, and fauteuils, settees, chairs, and lounges, in all styles upholstered in leather, satin, velvet, &c. Lace and other Curtains are there in sufficient quantities to meet all requirements.

The collection of furniture, carpets, &c., has been made from all parts of the kingdom, with a view to artistic effect and regardless of cost, and in many cases are of historic interest.

The large Hall will dance a larger number that any other in the City and if occasion arises, both ball rooms can be thrown into one

Personal application for vacant dates are invited. The Hall may be viewed between 10 and 12 a.m., or by special appointment. Proprietor: JAMES S. COX

SUNNYSIDE HYDRO., SOUTHPORT.

THE SUNNNYSIDE HYDRO, a Summer and Winter Residence, one of the handsomest buildings in Southport, replete with every comfort, and with accommodation for about sixty visitors; near Parks, Pier, Trams, and Golf Links; complete Bath System—under the direction of the Physician, Dr BARNARDO—by experienced and trained Bath attendants.—Terms from 7/6 per day, including Turkish, Russian, and other Baths.

The growing popularity of SOUTHPORT as a Health Resort is based upon its climatic merits and high sanitary condition. These contribute to make Southport a peculiarly advantageous locality for those who require the restorative effect of quiet, pure air, equable temperatures, southerly and westerly winds, and freedom from all anxiety as to sanitary arrangements. Fifty per cent. of all the breezes that blow over this favoured spot are between south and west, and it is questionable whether another Watering Place can be found in England where the viciseitudes of temperature range within narrower limits.

SOUTHPORT IS ONE OF THE SUNNIEST SPAS IN EUROPE.

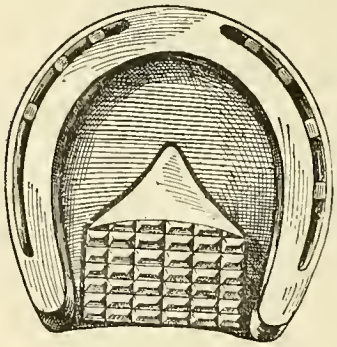
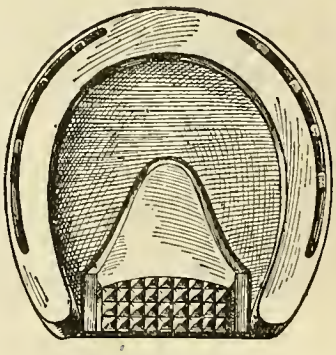
INDIA-RUBBER HORSE-SHOE PADS.



Frog Pad.

THE excellent benefits derived from the use of these pads are well known to Veterinary Surgeons, Farriers, and Horse-Shoers. Not only do they prevent slipping, but are an effectual cure for corns and diseased feet. These pads are made under our own supervision, possessing, therefore, two genuine qualities,—best materials and first-class workmanship. We have no doubt that our new prices shall greatly increase our already extensive connection. We supply these pads all over England and Scotland, and also in America and the Colonies.



Double Bar Pad.

Square Corrugated Pad.

We shall have pleasure in sending our revised price list, which is beautifully illustrated, to any Veterinary Surgeon or Horse Shoer enclosing their business card with application.

We are also manufacturers, on an extensive scale, of all other India-rubber goods, Waterproof Coats being our leading speciality. All our garments are appreciated for their inodorous and thoroughly waterproof qualities. Patterns, with prices, &c.

WAX TORCHES Or FLAMBEAUX

T. C. BARLOW, Glasgow, begs to draw attention to his newly invented WAX TORCHES which burn with a large flame, speciality for Torch-light Processions, and are specially suitable for the use of Fire Brigades, Military and Gymnastic Clubs, Railways, Army, Town Authorities, Masonic, Students, and other Processions. &c., &c.

As is well known, the Pitch Torches let fall during their use red-hot drops and burning particles of tow, and they give out a very objectionable smoke which damages clothes, flags, and decorations, besides being troublesome to both carriers and spectators.

These inconveniences are not to be found with the torches manufactured by T. C. BARLOW from Wax. They burn with a clear high-flickering flame which withstands strong winds and rain, they drip hardly at all, and are pleasant in appearance and do not soil when in use.

The price of the Wax Torches does not exceed that for Pitch or Resin Torches, and have superior brilliancy, and burn a longer time if a fine night.

No. 1 burns 1½ to 2 hours. Price 1/- each. No. 2, 2 to 2½ hours. Price 1/6 each. No. 3, 2½ to 3 hours. Price 2/- each.

Therefore, for every purpose where a bright easily portable light is required, such as Torch-light Processions, Picnics, Railway Service, Open-air Works, Barges, Sledging Parties, and Ice Sports, T. C. BARLOW can thoroughly recommend the employment of his newly invented Wax Torch specially for Masonic Processions.

At the same time T. C. BARLOW would mention his "VAUXHALL," or

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its porportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of nowards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-ful of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co, Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.
